THE DEPARTMENT of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD) yesterday launched its Supplemental Feeding Program targeting 1.5 million children in day-care centers.

Under the program aimed at addressing malnutrition, the children are to be fed a hot meal daily with rice purchased from the National Food Authority (NFA).

About 70 children between the ages of three and five were served chicken aphrodis with rice at yesterday's launch at Barangay 721 Day-care Center on Loversia Street in Manila.

RAISING THE ANTE in their conflict over birth control, the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) president yesterday said President Aquino could be "excommunicated" if he actively promoted the distribution of artificial contraceptives to Filipino couples.

Mr. Aquino, a practicing Catholic, recently signaled support for couples who would want to limit the number of their children by using contraceptives. His statement has been taken to mean he would favor government distribution of contraceptives to them.

"Being the President of all, you must consider the position of the Catholic Church because we are approaching this issue from the moral aspect," the CBCP president, Bishop Norberto Odion, said on Church-run Radio Veritas.

"Abortion is a grave crime. Bioengineering is attached to it. That is so true of gravity that it is a violation of God's commandment," he asserted.

Asked if he, Aquino could be excommunicated if he promoted the distribution of contraceptives, the CBCP president said, "That is a possibility."

Syjuco spent P66M on GMA T-shirts, P25M for Sarah ads

Dr. Antonio Syjuco, director of the Technical Education and Skills Development Authority (TESDA) and now a House representative, dishing out across Sarah Geronimo in TV ads?

Syjuco forked out P134,300 million to promote Today's scholarship and training programs, nearly half of which was spent printing Arroyo-T-shirts. It was revealed yesterday during a budget hearing for Today.

Gov. Franklin Delano said he was surprised why Syjuco splurged P66 million to promote the President John Scholastic Program last year.

"I can't even imagine how many T-shirts were made from all this money," Delano said in a press conference after the hearing, where the new transportation bill by Joel Villanueva seemed to look deeper into Syjuco

This was done a day after the Japanese House described a motion from defuncted vice-presidential candidate and former senator Masumi "Mac" Nishii II, for the Presidential Electoral Tribunal (PET) to conduct a forensic analysis of the Automated Election System as the OED began hearings on Nishii's election protest petition.

"It is effectively inviting the FBI to do what resembles a cosmetic surgery to... [the body] and make out their purpose," says one's respondent.

Many arrived a few minutes late, eliciting an admonition from the hearing co-moderator, Bernardo Pardo, the former Supreme Court justice and former Colombian ambassador to the United States.

"It is concluded that the Automated Flightion system had loading, memory and transmitting problems. That's why there is a need for a forensic analysis to show that there was a problem [during the shooting] that led to the [Rumsfeld] notes not being created," says Kneffman, House lawyer.

The survey and focus interviews had the highest scores and should be prioritized for research.

NFA gets subsidy budget, to keep buying local rice

By Graciano L. Rian

THE NATIONAL Food Authority will continue buying from farmers during next year under a three-year plan following a pledge from government officials that the NFA will get to P10 billion new subsidy budget for 2011.

NFA Administrator Alfonso Reyes, in an interview with the Department of Agriculture (DA) has agreed to give them P2.5 billion from the P5-billion budget allocated for public-private partnerships.

"We are agreed to (provide) subsidy support in exchange for the immediate disbursement of the P6 billion new subsidy of 2011," Reyes said.

"It will include an 800,000 metric ton purchase program for the next month."

The NFA will also buy rice production and rice consumption of poor Filipinos by "buying" and "selling" rice.

It also imports rice to close the gap between local production and consumption and to buffer stocks.

The agency buys grain from farmers at P17 per kilo and sells it between P18 and P20, depending on the type of rice.

Reyes said their main clients were the urban poor and lower-income Filipinos.

rice subsidy budget of P6.5 billion in 2011.

Reyes said it would buy more rice from farmers in the next three years under the DA's self-sufficiency plan.

"In tandem with the self-sufficiency plan, we will increase procurement in the ideal 10 percent of the total production by 2015," he said.

18 percent is significant

At present, the NFA buys only 4 percent of rice produced by farmers. It plans to increase it gradually within the next three years: 6 percent next year, 8 percent in 2011, and 10 percent in 2012.

The 18 percent increase, Reyes said, would be enough to significantly affect the market.

Buy more rice from farmers

The NFA-based itself in a program to purchase rice from farmers in the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Budget and Management recommended the renewal of the NFA subsidy budget next year.

Reyes said without the subsidy, farmers would be squeezed from the market of rice buyers, who could either sell their produce elsewhere or be wasted. It would also discourage farmers from planting rice, he added.

With fresh funds from the DA and the government's pledge to release the P6 billion immediately, the NFA is looking at a

With government intervention, the farmers would be able to grow rice, he said, when NFA prices were considered the benchmark for the market.

With the subsidy and guarantee that the government would buy their grains, farmers would plant more rice and reduce the country's reliance on imported rice.

The Philippines is currently the world's top rice importer.

Good harvest

Reyes stated reports that the country was experiencing a bumper crop of 1.6 million metric tons of rice in 2010.

This figure, he said, was "very good" as the ideal total local production and consumption was 1.5 million metric tons.

Housing Fair is about true progress - VP Binay

This year's Housing Fair, organized by the Housing and Urban Development Coordinating Council (HUDCC), is not only an exhibition of affordable homes, but is ultimately about "authentic progress."

This is the statement of Vice President Aquino Binay, concurrent Chairman of the HUDCC, regarding the Housing Fair to be held on October 1 to 3 at the SM Megamall-Mandaluyong Hall.

Binay linked the event to the ultimate goal of President Aquino's transformational leadership to bring about progress "that benefits the entire nation, not just a privileged few."

"This Housing Fair is a good starting point for leaders to experience such progress," he said.

According to Binay, the event was organized to provide the average working Filipino "a unique chance to search for affordable homes, as well as for realistic opportunities to own one."

The Housing Fair will feature acquired properties of key shelter agencies and government financial institutions on sale at discounted prices, as well as new housing units from private developers.

"This is a housing event envisioned not for business, but for the people. It is my hope that at the end of it, more Filipinos will become homeowners," he said.

The Vice President will formally open the event, and will also conduct a dialogue with various housing stakeholders.

"It is my hope that this event will further solidify our renewed dedication to a dynamic and responsible housing sector that truly serves the interests of the Filipino people," he added.

This year's Housing Fair, organized by the Housing and Urban Development Coordinating Council (HUDCC), will not only be about affordable homes, financing deals and new shelter technologies, but also a celebration of hope for a better future for the whole family.

With the theme, "Not giving up today, only my smiling tomorrow," the three-day event promises to be not just a housing exhibit but a powerful celebration of hope for a better future for Filipinos.

Housing-finding families may choose from 11,500 units at discounted prices, part of the inventory of thousands of properties being offered in sale by six government institutions—the Home Development Mutual Fund (HDMF) or Pag-IBIG Fund, Government Service Insurance System (GSIS), Bangkok Bank of the Philippines (BBP), National Home Mortgage Finance Corporation (NHMFC), Home Banking Corporation (HBC), and Social Security System (SSS).

Aside from these, new housing units will also be on exhibit from non-bank and non-IG participating private developers. Some of the developers will be showcasing product presentations during the event.

The Pag-IBIG Fund, the biggest provider of affordable housing finance to Filipino workers, will conduct on-site loan counseling sessions and membership orientation to those interested in purchasing homes.

Among the exhibitors are the providers of pre-fabricated cement concrete materials, Solaris for solar home and roofing materials, Color Guard for UV-protective, waterproofing, and fire-resistant coatings, and the providers of solar home and roofing materials.

The Housing Fair will also be a fun family affair, featuring an art contest for the children of employees of key shelter agencies and participating government financial institutions, as well as Binay giving the inaugural speech.

NBI probes Taft blast

By Juanito I. Andale

THE NATIONAL Bureau of Investigation (NBI) has joined the police investigation into a grenade blast on Sunday that wounded 44 persons, as its agents conducted an inspection of the site yesterday on Taft Avenue.

As investigators continued to sift through evidence and witnesses gathered near the blast, Manila Police District (MPD) officer in charge Chief Sgt. Roberto Benguet told reporters that the special investigation task group, the Operations 2013, is still evaluating information and more statements taken from witnesses for submission to the Supreme Court.

"Everybody is considered a suspect," he said. "While we want to solve this at once, and are trying the involvement of a group, we have to be sure about our facts."

Part of the evaluation, he said, was to find out whether or not the grenade thrown is a new model or a modified one.

The fact that a member of the Aquino family also took the examination is placing more in investigation, Benguet added. "Anything is possible," he said.

Members of the Aquino family have been implicated in what is now known as the Maguindanao massacre that resulted in the death of 57 persons last November.

The MPD official said that, although there are reports that one of the witnesses wanted to withdraw his sworn statement, the affidavit has not been withdrawn.

Investigators and group head and MPD District 9 commander Sgt. Francisco Galido reported the dragging of Jol Carlo Lanza, 24, a fourth-year law student of the University of the East, from the school of Law in Cebu, minutes after the blast.

Galido said Lanza had allegedly been beaten up and accused of participating in the grenade blast by several witnesses of a fraternity that participated in the last operations.

Agents of the technical divisions of the Anti-Narcotics Capital Region and the Counter-Terrorism Unit conducted an inspection of the site yesterday along the neighborhood east of Taft Avenue near the La Salle University—where the last examinations took place—as part of a parallel investigation of the blast.

The team measured the 75-meter radius around a small area around the blast to determine how the victims got their injuries.

The incident started Sunday's bloody festivities traditionally held by law students to celebrate the last day of the last examinations.

Cops charge woman with aunt's murder

By Beverly T. Hernandez

THE POLICE have filed charges against the aunt of a woman whose body was stuffed into a black suitcase and then dumped on Road 36 in Congress Hills, Colorado City, last week.

On Wednesday, the police charged Rhea Zamora, 23, with the murder of her aunt, Neta S. Zamora, at the Colorado Regional Jail. She was charged with evidence pointing to her as the primary suspect in the victim's death.

Chief Insp. Rodrigo Garcia, head of the Western Investigation and Detective Management Bureau of the Colorado police, told the Sunstar that investigators went over the house the victim shared with her sister in North Colorado.

"We conducted an on-site inspection of the house to collect all possible evidence relating to the crime. Investigators searched everything that was in the house and found traces of blood, hair, some plastic cups and bed sheets," Garcia said.

He added that one of the suspect's neighbors told them that they saw her carrying a big black suitcase on Sept. 25, the day the victim was missing.

Zamora's 9-year-old daughter also told the police that she saw the suspect reportedly running down the street after her mother disappeared.

Doctors said probes were inconclusive before the autopsy for the killing.

A del. after Zamora's disappearance, a police officer showed pieces of jewelry he found in the Colorado Sheriff's Office in Colorado.

Zamora's body, which was found inside a suitcase, was clad only in a white T-shirt and underwear. Police said she had been hit in the head with a blunt object which has been found but not yet identified.

Investigators were able to identify her through clothing and identification cards found near her body. Zamora was said to be 23 years old. The suspect told them that the victim left their house on Sept. 22 to go to work.

Police: Train thieves

date of agreement between the group and the Metro-Manila Manila Development Authority allowing them to use the highly built Road 36 as the terminal of the rail service.

A leader of an FX taxi organization, North Triangle International Transport Union, said the rail was asking for a membership fee ranging from P10,000 to P20,000.

De Garzon said that based on a report submitted to him, the rail management had already issued a ban for the FX taxis to use it as a terminal for the rail.

He added that as of press time, negotiations between the rail management and leaders of the FX taxi association were still ongoing.

"Before we have been directed to the area to ensure that no additional vehicles would enter the place and order our movement," De Garzon said.

MPD CHIEF'S DAUGHTER LATEST VICTIM?

Police: Train thieves well-dressed, wilier

By Mike Manabat

TODAY'S thieves are harder to spot because they make an effort to blend in with their victims, according to the chief of the rail police who is in charge of securing the commuter train routes in Metro-Manila.

Chief Insp. Charles Ursuaque said that most of the pickpockets he met had arms and on the light rail Transit (LRT) lines and Metro Rail Transit (MRT) were well-dressed and could pass for professionals.

"Having a hard time spotting people is supposed to be job-potential and makes them become they adapt to the environment," Ursuaque said. He believes it is an inherent feature, the police could easily spot a suspect in a crowd," he added.

In a related development, a police source said the daughter of Manila Police District 1111A officer in charge Chief Insp. Rufino S. Sarmiento lost an iPhone to a thief on Wednesday afternoon.

Marie Joseph Sarmiento was waiting for the train at the Divisoria Area station of the LRT Line 1 when she noticed that her iPhone was missing.

Although the incident was not reported to a police station, the source said Sarmiento is a police officer and ordered the officer to go after the thief who had stolen his daughter's iPhone.

The incident called attention to the problem of the incident but he denied the report.

The source, however, said Sarmiento directed his men to immediately solve the case with the help of the rail police.

Meanwhile, Ursuaque also said that the growing number of passengers taking the LRT or MRT could mean it is an advantage or disadvantage.

Due to the huge volume of people going and a platform waiting for the train to arrive, thieves must find a hard to escape after they are spotted, he explained. On the other hand, the huge crowd also makes it difficult for the police to prevent the crime from happening.

Ursuaque said that thieves have become more wary and now employ strategies to make it harder for the police to catch them. For example, thieves now work in groups with each member assigned a different task. One member of a robbery gang would be in charge of bumping into or shoving the target while another one would pick the victim's pocket while a third member serves as a lookout.

He makes the job easier for the thief when her operator with a group because he can immediately pass on the things he needs to other members," he said. "On the other hand, some of the thieves are no more because they know they'll easily be caught by the police."

Ursuaque urged the public to be vigilant.

FX taxis parked on Edsa snarl traffic

SECURITY agents ordered long buses on the road along the north-bound route on EDSA near North Avenue in Quezon City at 7:00 a.m. and reported that FX taxis parked their vehicles on the road after their terminal was ordered shut down yesterday.

Rep. Emmanuel de Guzman said the parking of FX taxi operators at leaving their areas in the North Road Station in EDSA North Avenue, Quezon City as a terminal had required monitoring and was ordered closed by the management of the station.

There was no reported incident but there were complaints in the morning when the FX taxis took over two lanes of North Avenue Road," he Guzman added.

Hot Eagles pull off 'three-peat'

Buenafe stars as Ateneo sweeps FEU with emphatic Game 2 win

By James W. Poy

A PERFECT ENDING to an imperfect start to the season.

Despite trailing a less dominant path to the championship this year, Ateneo scraped to a barely-there victory over the defending champion, La Salle, 74-62, in Game 2 of the 70th UAAP men's basketball finals on Sunday at the Jockey Club Arena, Cebu.

But Ateneo carried the Hot Eagles on its shoulders in the last seven minutes against its FEU opponent that came out fighting this time, despite the absence of coach Glenn Capacio for the water around half due to health concerns.

"Obviously this is the most difficult championship game since the last three years," said Ateneo coach Norman Black. "There were mistakes and there were errors, but today the boys played their best game."

Ateneo, considered far more of the favorite for the title, posted the game's first lead, 10-0, in the first quarter, capped by a triple that gave the Eagles a 14-0 lead in the first quarter.

"I was not thinking of the game when I shot that triple," said Black. "I shot it for the team, not for myself. I shot it for the team, not for myself."

The Titans, the top seed who were surprisingly blown away in Game 1, 72-49, such as last is almost as if the game after the first quarter, but the Titans were in a bad form in the first quarter, with only 14 points in the first quarter.

But with the Eagles leading at 14-0, Black called only one of three free throws, before Ateneo scored the game's first point in the first quarter, with a 14-0 lead.

Black, a junior forward who also won a three-point shot in the first quarter, led the Titans in the first quarter, with a 14-0 lead.

Capacio's mind was on the game as he led the Titans in the first quarter, with a 14-0 lead.

P-Noy infra scheme may be debt-funded

By Danilo L. Garcia

KEY INFRASTRUCTURE projects touted to be the economic centerpiece of the Aquino administration will likely be funded through a multibillion-dollar foreign borrowing scheme to ensure Filipino ownership of big-ticket ventures.

Speaking on condition of anonymity, a Palace official yesterday said the scheme that the government would create a corporate entity that would sell bonds to foreign investors.

"These funds, in turn, will be used to fund the infrastructure projects," said the official who refused to be quoted because details were regarding the scheme were ongoing.

When initially conceived, the so-called infrastructure fund is envisioned to be a scheme that will allow foreign investors to directly participate in local projects through direct equity infusion.

The Palace official believes that the equity scheme may prove to be less attractive than outright debt purely because of foreign ownership restrictions on key infrastructure projects, many of which may be considered as vital to national interests.

In addition, debt funding is, in general, cheaper regardless the source.

The official stressed that no final decision has been made on the funding scheme yet.

Global bond offer yields $200M for RP

By Michelle V. Ibanez

THE GOVERNMENT'S $200-million global bond offering drew an overwhelming response from the international capital markets, resulting in an oversubscription of the debt securities by as much as 20 times, the Department of Finance announced yesterday.

The government also completed a dollar bond exchange by buying about $3 billion of euro-denominated debt maturity.

Despite the strong appetite for the bonds, the government opted to stick to its borrowing plan of selling $200 million worth of securities.

The government has been borrowing steadily to plug an estimated budget deficit of P202 billion this year and meets mounting obligations.

Also, the government decided to trade new long-term securities with proceeds sold bonds about to reach maturity.

In particular, the government targeted

Lopezes eyeing purchase of BG stake in plants

By Amy S. Bono

THE LOPEZ GROUP is studying the possibility of exercising its right of first refusal over the 40 percent stake in the Bataan and San Lorenzo power plants held by Bataan Gas Energy.

The group is evaluating its options after the 100 percent-owned company agreed to sell its equity in the power plants to Bataan Electric Power Corp. (BPEC).

The right of first refusal grants the Lopez group the first option to buy the shares of its partner for a specific period, then BG can sell the shares to other companies, such as Bataan Electric Power Corp. (BPEC).

"We're not sure which option we would take... but we don't have to rush with our decision," said First Eco Corp. president and CEO Francis Glavin. First Eco is a Philippine company that the Lopez group helped to make its decision by the end of the year.

First Eco owns 60 percent of First Gas Holdings—the parent company of First Gas Power Corp., which owns and operates the 1,000-megawatt Bataan industrial gas-fired power plant—and BGC Corp., which owns and operates the 1,000-MW San Lorenzo power plant.

BG Group holds the remaining 40 percent. BG's facilities, located in Bataan, are the national gas from the Malampago gas field off northwest Palawan.

The sale of the stake of the Lopez group when it controls natural gas power facilities in Bataan, 1,200-MW Bataan power plant, which also accounts for the Malampago gas field off northwest Palawan.

The BG Group agreed on Wednesday the sale and purchase agreement with Bataan Electric Power Corp. (BPEC). The amount of the deal is still subject to standard completion adjustments, including in return to be paid to BG Group upon completion of the transaction in the second quarter of 2011.

However, the closing of the transaction is still subject to meeting necessary criteria and conditions from both investors and the Bataan Electric Power Corp. (BPEC).

First Eco is a subsidiary to the Philippine Stock Exchange.

BDO inks deal with Wells Fargo

By David C. Sordano

LOCAL BANKING giant Banco de Oro United Bank Inc. (BDO) has inked a lucrative agreement with Wells Fargo Bank to a new partnership with American Financial group Wells Fargo Co.

BDO President and CEO Willie Pang, Jr. said the deal effectively tripled its customer base in the Philippines—the fourth biggest country in terms of total customer base—by looking up not just with the country's largest bank but with the leading one bank financial institution in the US, The Wall Street Journal.

"We understand how important relationships are to the Philippines," said David Agala, executive vice president and head of Wells Fargo's global corporate services, during the signing ceremony. "By joining our Filipino customers with our American customers throughout the country, we hope we can strengthen the economy of their homeland by supporting their family and friends."

BDO's high-end branch and 1,150 automated teller machines and was ranked by the Banker's Survey of the Philippines as the largest financial institution in the country in 2009.

With this tie-up, overseas Filipino workers can now use Wells Fargo's services and up to $1,000 a day in their bank accounts through BDO's up to $1,000 a day through M. L. L. L.

Customers may also qualify for a discount on their bank's credit card when they use Wells Fargo's services.

Wells Fargo also has an existing partnership with BDO of the Philippines, which has helped the American financial institution to enter the market in the Philippines.

The tie-up is seen as a move to help BDO's financial institution in the Philippines, which is seen as a move to help BDO's financial institution in the Philippines.

Wrangler has been a true mark of individuality and freedom and this collection takes it a notch higher. Inspired by Western culture, an American wardrobe from the 40's to the 70's, the Wrangler Fall/Winter 2010 collection is all about the personalized, the customized and the amplified details that make you stand out from the masses.

A deserted highway was converted into the runway for this wild night. Engraved and embossed details, patches, shiny stripes, glowing paintwork, and reconstructed cuts among others, inspired the looks these models sported.

Elevating customization into artistry, the Wrangler Fall/Winter 2010 show truly was a night that left a mark.

The Third of Speed, Engraved, and Working Horse, are themes of this collection, each highlighting distinct styles that symbolize freedom of expression.

The "My Fit, My Edge," booth gave fashionistas a chance to flaunt their edge in their own personalized.

gathering and presentation to be inspired by the '90s. A new studio in Manhattan City will soon be opened, he added.

The Streaming Cinema studio in Queens City will be home to three TV5 shows: "90's," "Sex Factor" and "Sex to Fame," he said. "Sex Factor" is a show hosted by Amy Poehler and presented after the US sitcom "The Mindy Project." "The 90's" is a show hosted by Amy Poehler and presented after the US sitcom "The Mindy Project." "The 90's" is a show hosted by Amy Poehler and presented after the US sitcom "The Mindy Project."

Poehler was a perfect pick for "Sex to Fame," said Poehler. "Other networks repeatedly wanted to create rival shows but they had challenges too. Creating the right show."

Executive vice president for Ryan Agostino, head of the show network program "Bloomberg 500" (he said, "It's not an exclusive talent but we're looking for a real professional. He promised to stay with 'Bloomberg 500' and then 'Sex Factor'." He simply worked around it.

TV5 began to build its roster of talent through the radio search "Sex Factor," said Poehler. "Sex Factor" is a show hosted by Amy Poehler and presented after the US sitcom "The Mindy Project." "The 90's" is a show hosted by Amy Poehler and presented after the US sitcom "The Mindy Project."

Also coming soon is an international TV channel. Meanwhile, as TV station, Radio 92.3, starts broadcasting today.

The network hopes to build its own stable of talents

A stickler for the simple and stylish

Rox Montenegro says it's all about wearing one's self-confidence

By Marissa San Diego Jr.

S DASTRUCK V? Endless Rox Montenegro, confessed: "I love classics."

The 30-year-old actress, who is also a model, says she's been wearing the same classic pieces for so long that she's almost embarrassed to admit it.

She admitted that her "personal style" couldn't be found in her closet. "I don't like to look different. But I stick to the simple and stylish."

She also admitted to being a "closet addict." She said she has a "personal style" that is "not too far from the classic." She said she has a "personal style" that is "not too far from the classic."
